

Banking

The banking sector in Ireland has become a highly competitive global business. Major international players ranging from high street banks to back office operations have set up and expanded in Ireland over recent years, providing an enormous range of financial services to the market. This growth and its resulting spin off industries has led to a significant increase in the number and range of job opportunities within this sector.

Brightwater's specialist banking division addresses the recruitment needs of the Irish and international banking markets. The team has a wealth of finance and recruitment experience and provides a truly consultative service to an impressive portfolio of clients and an extensive database of job seekers.

Brightwater's Banking Division recruits across all areas including the following:

- Treasury
- Private Banking
- Back-Office
- Stock-broking
- Investment Management
- Corporate Banking
- Middle-Office
- Compliance

As the banking sector responds to increasing demands for new and expanded products and services, more and more career opportunities arise within the market for both sales and finance professionals. Companies setting up in regions other than the traditional city locations have also contributed to the range of opportunities available within the banking sector.

Brightwater's Banking division recruits for the following roles:
