

Engineering & Construction

Today's engineers stand on the shoulders of giants and at the forefront of technological excellence. No modern gadgetry, medical equipment or transport device would be accessible without the engineer. From Leonardo da Vinci to Isembard Kingdom Brunel and Jack Kilby to Peter Rice, engineers have been instrumental in shaping and designing our world. The Irish Engineering & Construction sector is one of the most buoyant and exciting sectors in the current marketplace, offering an array of opportunities for all professionals within the discipline.

At Brightwater, our Engineering & Construction team comprises specialist professional recruiters with backgrounds in engineering and in-depth knowledge of the market. We create, manage and deliver bespoke recruitment solutions to individuals and companies in all sectors of engineering.

Our Areas of Expertise include:

- Manufacturing
- Building Services Engineering
- Contracts Management
- Environmental
- Design Engineering
- Project Management
- Health & Safety
- Property & Facilities Management

The importance of the engineering and construction profession will only increase in the years ahead. Engineers will be crucial to realising an innovation-driven knowledge economy and play a vital role in the development of any country, particularly within infrastructure and creating new energy solutions.

Brightwater's Engineering & Construction division recruits for an array of roles, including:

- Consulting Engineers (all disciplines)
- Construction Managers
- M&E/Building Services Engineers
- Project Engineers
- Quantity Surveyors
- Engineering Managers
- Production Managers
- Maintenance Managers
- Process/Industrial Engineers
- Health & Safety Managers
- Quality Managers
- Environmental Engineers
- Property Managers
- Facilities Managers
- Service Managers
- Field Engineers

OUR SERVICE TO YOU

At Brightwater, we pride ourselves in our superior levels of service. Brightwater offers a truly consultative service to both client and candidate from the very start of the recruitment process to completion. Our commitment to service and our technical expertise sets us aside from our competitors. We also offer additional services such as providing salary surveys and information on current market trends. We take great pride in building successful and lasting working partnerships with both employers and jobseekers.

For a confidential discussion, please call our Engineering & Construction Team at Brightwater.