

Financial Services

Over the last number of years, the Financial Services sector in Ireland, both in Northern Ireland and in the Republic, has witnessed exceptional growth. The development of the IFSC in Dublin led to a huge increase in financial activity in Ireland and has also resulted in a healthy growth throughout all of the industries that support this sector. Outperforming many other growth areas, the financial services arena encompasses a number of niche markets, creating specialist jobs for both experienced professionals and trainee graduates.

Brightwater's Financial Services division comprises a mixture of business graduates, financial services professionals and highly experienced recruitment consultants. Specialising in the placement of qualified and part-qualified accountants within the financial services sector, we have an extensive database of both permanent and temporary positions and candidates.
